

How Will You Recognize Constitution Day (September 15)?

By role-playing a delegate to the Constitutional Convention at the Jimmy Carter Presidential Library and Museum

Friday, September 15, 2006

Schedule your class for one of two performances:

9:30 am and 11:00 am

(1:30 performance CANCELLED)

Duration: 45 minutes

Free for school groups

Limited availability – first come first served

Learn how the US Constitution was Drafted

Experience a forty-five minute dramatization of the creation of the United States Constitution:

Let's Keep It a Secret:

The writing of the U.S. Constitution.

A role playing performance with storyteller
Cathy Kaemmerlen

Students take the roles of delegates and re-enact what went on behind closed doors during the 1787 drafting of this historic document.

Supplemental materials on interpreting the Constitution in the classroom will be available at the time of your visit.